

Beijing to Ulaanbaatar

Train Journey 23rd June – 2nd July 2010

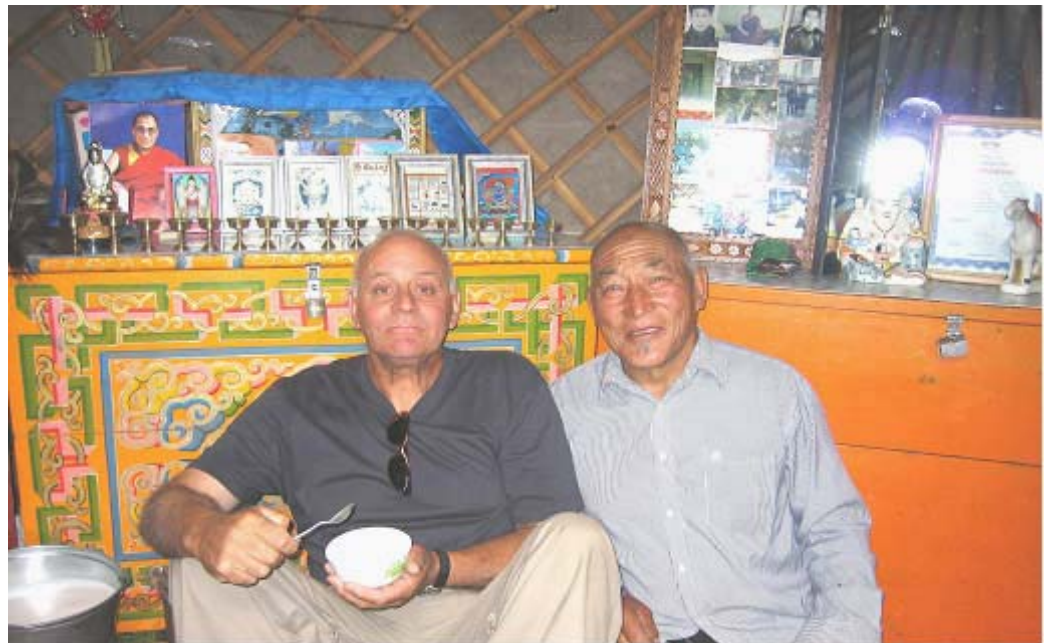

This tour is a wonderful opportunity to see the most important and famous sights in and around Beijing, to travel on the Trans Mongolian train to Ulaanbaatar, and to visit the ancient Mongolian capital of Kharkhorin.

The train is a very exciting way to enter Mongolia and is a journey lasting approximately 35 hours. We pass through the Chinese autonomous region of Inner Mongolia and across the Gobi Desert to reach Ulaanbaatar. This is a fun journey with lots to see, plenty of other passengers to meet, a nice restaurant car, and comfortable bunk beds in each compartment.

In Mongolia we travel by jeep to Kharkhorin town in the central region. It is difficult to believe that this open, undeveloped, sparsely inhabited valley was once the centre of the greatest empire the world has ever known. Genghis Khan established his capital here in the thirteenth century, and later a large Buddhist monastery was built on the same site.
